

Biography for Becca Followill

Becca Followill is the Managing Director and Head of Midstream Research for Tudor, Pickering, Holt & Co., covering pipelines, integrated natural gas companies and midstream providers. Her diversified energy background includes experience in reservoir engineering, power plant development and natural gas pipeline planning and operations. Prior to joining TPH, she was with Howard Weil, covering the Gas and power sectors and with Merrill Lynch, covering natural gas utilities, for a combined 11 years. She also spent 11 years for various Tenneco divisions, including Tenneco Inc., Tennessee Gas Pipeline and Tenneco Oil Company.

Becca has a Bachelor of Science degree in Petroleum Engineering from Texas A&M University and a Masters of Business Administration from the University of Houston. In addition, she is a registered Petroleum Engineer in the State of Texas. Becca resides in Houston, Texas, with her husband David and their two daughters.